

Having to tolerate the usage of cellphones among all the types of problems onboard the aircraft is asking a lot of minimum staffing... I don't think it is fair for passengers who are trying to rest to have to listen to someone on their cellphone talking loudly to make themselves look important...